ISC Risk Management Process Training Program

Critical Thinking through a New Lens

The Interagency Security Committee, Office of Personnel Management, and Department of Justice have partnered to offer the Risk Management Process Training Course. This course is designed to provide opportunities for individuals to become experienced with the ISC Risk Management Process. You will learn how to accurately summarize the main features of the ISC Risk Management Process, identify how its implementation will benefit your organization; and given the risk assessment, make informed, risk-based decisions. This blended learning solution features four (4) pre-requisite on-line courses and a 3-day classroom experience.

The training program consists of collaborative exercises, hands-on interactive training, and instruction from accomplished risk management professionals.

This is the first and only ISC certified and approved training course offered to Federal audiences. As part of your participation in the course, you receive the first ISC certified and approved Risk Management Process Tool designed to automate the process of calculating facility security levels and identifying the relevant counter-measures associated with various types of threats

Understand and Apply the ISC Risk Management Process

Using the ISC's The Risk Management Process for Federal Facilities: An Interagency Security Committee Standard, participants will be able to:

- Determine Facility Security Levels (FSL)
- Perform ISC-Compliant Risk Assessments
- Identify Necessary Levels of Protection (LOP)
- Provide guidance to Facility Security Committees (FSC)
